Introduction to the new website

Bridgeman Education is a complete visual resource for students, educators and academic professionals both in and out of the classroom. It has been developed on the basis of research carried out by our postdoctoral researcher for the benefit of the educational e-learning sector.

Building on the experience and feedback gathered over the years, the new site provides all the functionality of the previous version as well as enhanced and additional features such as:

- Detailed usage statistics – available on request or via Counter
- Shibboleth access
- Compliance to standards such as COUNTER, Z3950 and Open URL
- Compliance to W3C standards for accessibility and disability
- Touch-screen friendly – ideal whiteboard tool
- Zoom feature and ability to capture details and store in the slideshows
- Many more images added from museums, private galleries and historical societies around the world

This manual explains the many ways in which to use the site in order to get the most out of our vast resource. For all further questions, please get in touch with the Bridgeman Education team – the contact details can be found at the foot of each page.

Searching

Bridgeman Education offers two search functions, the Quick and the Advanced search, as well as a range of indexes and Subject categories available to all subscribed members.

Quick Search

This is a 'Google' type search using keywords that will retrieve results containing one or more of the keywords you enter into the Search field. The results will be sorted by relevance, i.e. results corresponding to all search terms first then in decreasing relevance. For example, a search using the keywords “Hopper, woman and street” first will retrieve results containing all three words, then will retrieve results containing two of them, and finally will retrieve results containing all results with just one of the keywords.

You can change this option and organize your search results by ‘most recent’.

Advanced Search

The Advanced Search allows you to narrow the focus of the search by including details such as:

Search all fields (using keywords)

Image title

Artist's name

Medium (photograph, oil on canvas, stone, watercolor, etc.)

Location (as in where the original is kept e.g. 'Louvre')

Year

Century

Location refers to the current location of the work country or institution.

The Advanced search function is particularly useful when looking for artists with a generic name such as Black, Jones, etc., or for images at a specific location such as the Prado, Washington D.C., Guggenheim, Louvre and so on.

The image shows a screenshot of an 'Advanced Search' form. The form is titled 'Advanced Search' in a green header bar. Below the header, there are several input fields and dropdown menus. Three red circles highlight specific sections: the 'Search all fields' section with the text 'portrait', the 'Artist' section with the text 'Goya', and the 'Location of artwork' section with the text 'Prado'. The 'Year' and 'Century' sections each have two input fields with 'AD' dropdown menus and a 'to' label between them. A green search button with a magnifying glass icon is located at the bottom right of the form.

Subject categories

Image selections pre-created by
Bridgeman Education picture researchers

We currently have 13 subject categories live on the site organizing our collection by Movement, Period, School, Subject, Medium, etc. The subject categories are also organized according to areas of study such as Graphic Design, Geography, Medicine and many more. Additionally, we have created conceptual selections based on emotions.

We add to our subject categories regularly and are happy to hear of any gaps that you might want filled or categories that are in need of more content.

Each category is divided into several sub-categories, which provide more detail and specific content on each subject. Once you have opened a subject category, you will find a series of topics listed within it that in turn can be clicked on. These sub-categories will lead you to specific image selections.

We recommend you take your time in exploring all of the subjects because many of these categories are several “levels” deep. Here is our Movement, Period, School category as an example.

The screenshot shows a website interface for art education. At the top left, there is a breadcrumb trail: "Home / Subjects". Below this, a navigation menu is displayed with the text "Home / Subjects / Movement, Period, School". A red arrow points from this menu to a sub-menu titled "Movements". This sub-menu contains a grid of 24 art movements, each represented by a small image and a label. The movements listed are: Romantic, Pre-Raphaelite, Realist, Impressionist, Post-Impressionist, Pointillist, Symbolist, Art Nouveau, Secession, Expressionist, Fauvist, Cubist, Art Deco, Futurist, Abstract, Surrealist, Abstract Expressionist, Pop Art, Op Art, Minimalist, and Conceptual. A second red arrow points from the "Movements" sub-menu to the grid of art movements.

Search Tips

Special keywords, Boolean search and other useful tips to perform searches

You can try the following to narrow down your search results.

Use a negative search to exclude certain result: enter a minus sign without a space in front of your search term architecture -castle

Another example would be to type in "Jean-Francois Millet NOT landscape"; the search will remove all of Millet's landscapes and narrow the results down to mainly portraits.

Use OR: add OR to your keyword searches to ensure that you retrieve all possible results around one topic

jesuit OR jesuits

 Searching

Spelling

In order to increase your chances of finding the correct results, try using different spellings. For example, when looking for St Mark's Venice, also try searching SAN MARCO.

Similar examples are:

Mohammad II - try Mohammed li
ALIXI, ALEXEI, ALEXY, etc.

Similarly, when looking for images associated with a particular movement, style or period, try the following:

- Impressionist not – ism
- Expressionist not – ism
- Realist not – ism

You can also refer to our Subjects page menu as you will find a lot of these subjects have been pre-selected for you.

Keywords

Once you find an image, be sure to look at the keywords listed on the right hand side. Clicking on these words will lead you to other related results.

Try using fewer keywords in your searches; the fewer keywords used, the broader the selection of results. Think laterally when searching. For example, if you are looking for images of an event that occurred in a certain place at a specific time, try using all related keywords in order to broaden your search, e.g. Berlin wall, 1989, Germany, photograph, reunion, celebration, cold war, etc.

You can also try searching moods, colors and forms, e.g. blue, green, colorful, conceptual, geometric, shape, jealousy, happiness, contemplation, sadness, atmospheric, spiritual, merriment, melancholy, etc. The Subjects category also contains a pre-selected conceptual index.

NB. When searching for men or women be sure to enter male/female as search term keywords as well.

Boolean Search

Using a star (*) or 'wildcard' word prefix will help you find words with the same beginning and multiple endings. For instance, *Kand will bring up images of Kandinsky whether they are written with a y or an i.

This feature is great for plurals, for languages like Russian, or for movements such as Romantici –st or –ism.

Bound search

Using quotations around specific phrasing, i.e. “Tiger, Tiger Burning Bright” or “dejeuner sur l’herbe” or “word play,” will narrow down your results to that specific wording.

Viewing Images

Search results order, image size and information options

Results view:

Search results will first be displayed at thumbnail size across one or more pages. The total number of results will be shown at the top of the page as well as the manner in which the results have been sorted, i.e. by best relevance, most recent, asset number, or artist name. You can change this order by using the drop down box below:

The number of page results is at the bottom of each page. You can use the arrows to move between the pages or to go straight to the last or first page of results.

In the thumbnail format, you will see partial captions:

The partial captions include the title of the work, name of the artist, and dates where known as well as the Bridgeman reference number.

The icons below the image allow you to:

- Add the image to a slideshow
- Open the zoom window
- Download the image

Detailed image view:

If you want to view the larger version of the image, simply click on the image itself. This will open a new window in which you can view the complete image details and keywords that can be clicked on to take you to related results.

Creating a Slideshow

The Slideshow function allows you to create your own collections of images, i.e. slideshows, which you can then annotate, view and download. This is a handy way of keeping selections of images available online so that you can retrieve them from different locations and computers. You can also review your selection and save or discard it at your leisure.

To create a slideshow, simply click on the ”Select” button found underneath every image in search results. Then click on ”Create slideshow”

The screenshot shows a search results page for 'van gogh room'. On the left, there are search options and display options. The main area displays 9 search results for 'van gogh room'. Each result includes a thumbnail image, a 'Select' button, and a 'Create slideshow' button. A red arrow points from the text above to the 'Select' button of the first result. Another red arrow points from the text above to the 'Create slideshow' button of the first result. A third red arrow points from the text above to the 'Create slideshow' button of the second result.

Creating a Slideshow

Select an existing option or name a new slideshow and press “Save.”

Once your slideshow is created, you will see this message in the top right corner of the screen.

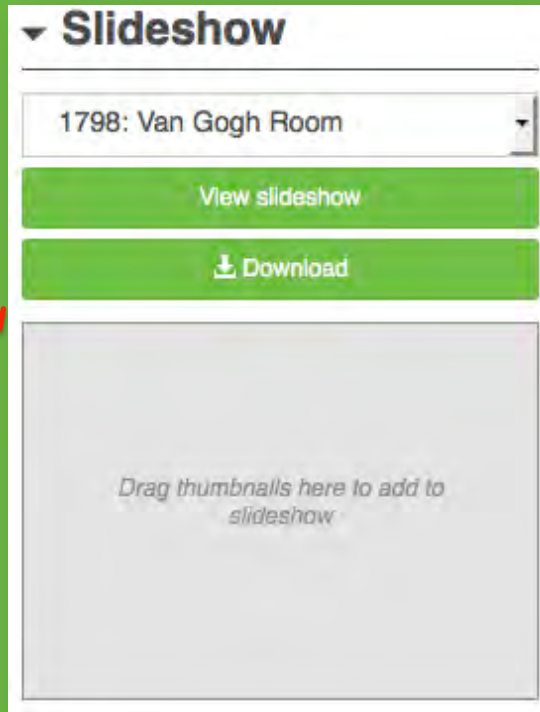

The screenshot shows a form titled 'Slideshow' with a sub-section 'Create slideshow'. Under 'Make my new slideshow...', there are two radio button options: 'Empty' and 'From selected assets'. The 'From selected assets' option is selected. Below this, there is a text input field containing 'Van Gogh Room'. A green 'Save' button is located at the bottom right of the form.

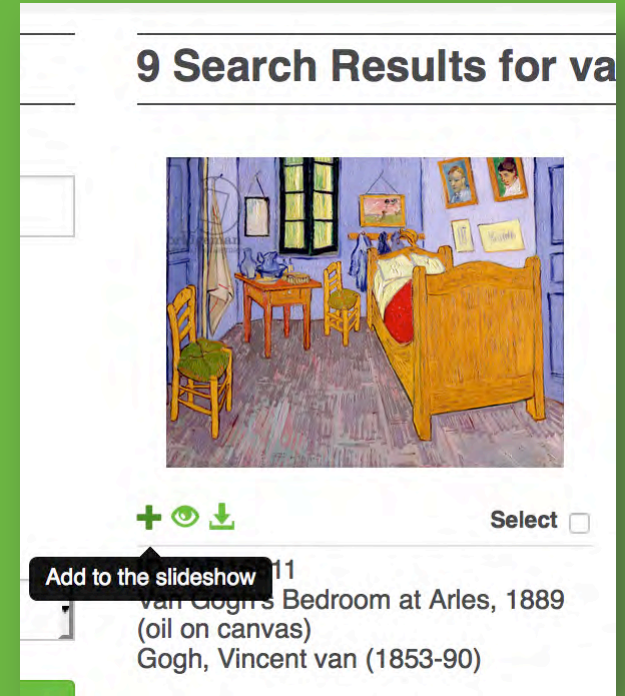

Adding images

To add images to a slideshow, click on the "Add to slide show" button found underneath every image in the search results. You can also drag and drop an image to the box on the right.

A screenshot of search results for "9 Search Results for van". The first result is "Van Gogh's Bedroom at Arles, 1889 (oil on canvas) Gogh, Vincent van (1853-90)". It includes a thumbnail image of the painting. Below the image are icons for adding to the slideshow, eye, and download, and a "Select" checkbox. A black tooltip with the text "Add to the slideshow" is positioned over the first icon. A red arrow points from the text above to the "Add to the slideshow" button.

You have the option to add duplicate images to your slideshow. This can be particularly useful if you are planning to save cropped details of your images.

When you add a duplicate, a pop-up window will alert you that you are adding a duplicate.

Viewing a Slideshow

To open a slideshow, click on the “View slideshow” bar found in the slideshow panel to the right of the search results.

The screenshot shows a user interface for creating a slideshow. At the top, there is a dropdown menu labeled "1798: Van Gogh Room". Below this are two green buttons: "View slideshow" and "Download". A red arrow points to the "View slideshow" button. Below the buttons is a large grey area with the text "Drag thumbnails here to add to slideshow". At the bottom of this area is a green button labeled "Add selected assets". Below the entire panel is a button labeled "Create slideshow".

Assets and Slideshow options

Now that you have opened the slideshow, you can:

- Select or Deselect all assets and remove them from the slideshow
- Play the slideshow
- Share the slideshow with another Bridgeman Education user
- Download the slideshow and the notes you made Under the assets in a PDF document.

 The Notes you save in the slideshow box will not be visualized when downloading the PDF.

The screenshot displays the 'Slideshow: Van Gogh Room' interface. At the top, it shows 'Total number of assets: 5'. Below this are four thumbnails of 'Van Gogh's Bedroom at Arles, 1889' with their respective IDs and 'Select' buttons. To the right, there are 'Assets options' (Select all, Deselect all, Remove selection) and 'Slideshow Options' (Play slideshow, Share, Download). Below the main interface is a detailed view of the 'Assets options' and 'Edit slideshow' sections. The 'Assets options' section includes 'Select all', 'Deselect all', and 'Remove selection' buttons. The 'Slideshow Options' section includes 'Play slideshow', 'Share', and 'Download' buttons. The 'Edit slideshow' section has a 'Name' field containing 'Van Gogh Room' and a 'Notes' text area. A 'Save' button is located at the bottom of the 'Edit slideshow' section. A red arrow points from the text below to the 'Notes' field.
